By BRENDA HEATHCOCK oceanographic libraries is now open to researchers at National Space

Technology Laboratories in Hancock County. The Naval Oceanographic Office dedicated the Matthew Fontaine Maury Oceanographic Library in ceremonies Friday.

In opening remarks, Capt. J. M Sears told a crowd of approximately 200 that he was sure the use of Maury's name would have had his approval because he was a strong advocate of education and of the ad vantages that science can bring to an individual and to a nation.

Sears also said Maury, who served as the Navy's chief oceanographer in the 1840's before joining the Confederate forces, was a signigicant force in enhancing educational opportunities for naval officers, and for the establishment of the U. S.

In his keynote address, Congressman Trent Lott listed one of Maury's accomplishments the first work of modern oceanography, The Physical Geography Of The Sea And Its Meterology.

The library, is the culmination of more than 155 years of effort by the U. S. Navy and has holdings of more than 100,000 select technical publica-

The subjects include marine physics, geology, marine biology, and signal processing.

"We have relocated a significant portion of our oceanography department in this building which includes our inshore and acoustics projects divisions, which encompasses our laboratories and other specialized equipment," Sears said.

These facilities are essential to the efforts of the scientists and technicians in analyzing data and providing support services for a variety of custosiers, he said. "For the first time since moving to the Gulft Coast, our scientists and technicians will have adequate facilities to carry out their tasks," Sears added. He also said he believed the new building will have an impact on the center's ability to recruit and retain top scientists and technicians. 'Having a first-class facility combined with the opportunities to conduct oceanographic and hydrographic surveys, using modern equipment, onboard ships and aircraft throughout the world's oceans will be a very positive factor in this regard," he added.

Also present at the dedication was Rear Admiral John R. Seeshultz, Oceanographer of the Navy, and Dr. Lloyd R. Breslau, technical director of the Naval Oceanographic Office.

Music was provided at the ceremonies by the Bay St. Louis High School Band under the direction of Lana Jones.

Board President Betty Diboll appointed a committee to meet with Legarde, Oge and Baldree to decide on the redesign of the building.

The board had rejected the building, following a bid opening in April when it was determined that the lowest bid would put the sixclassrooms building costing more than $50 per square foot.

The committee met for several hours Saturday afternoon to decide on the redesign of the building.

Also at this meeting the board reviewed funding options by Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Franckiewicz.

The board voted to borrow $690,000 on short term loan to construct and equip the kindergarten classrooms, buy school buses and refinance existing debts.

The board also voted to pay 416,750.35 to the Hopkins Company.

Williamson found innocent of Laura Thoman murder

A seven-woman and five-man jury found Lorie Williamson, 52, of Robertsdale, Ala. innocent of capital murder Thursday in Hancock County Circuit Court.

It took the jury only two and a half hours to deliver the innocent verdict following closing arguments by Assistant District Attorneys Gray Burdick and J. P. Compretta and defense attorneys William M. Frisbie and Robert K. Asher.

Williamson was charged with the murder of Laura Jean Thoman, 47. of Bayside Park during an attempted rape on Feb. 20, 1984. He faced a possible death sentence.

Thoman's body was found in a wooded area near Oil Well Road off Lakeshore Road about three months after she had been reported missing

Delbert Seay, criminal investigator for the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, testified that a phone call from Joe Hill of Shoreline Park in July 1985, and subsequent interviews with Hill's wife Geraldine and several other people led to Williamson's arrest.

Williamson was brought back to Hancock County from Alabama and charged with capital murder on Seay further testified that in a statement Williamson said that he took Thoman to Oil Well Road on the evening of Feb. 20 after meeting her earlier and drinking beer with her at two lounges. Williamson said he hit Thoman with a beer bottle and cut her with his pocket knife after she resisted his sexual advances, but stopped short of admitting that he had killed the woman, Seay added.

However, Williamson denied meeting Thoman and making the statement. He said the pickup truck Tourism Week is celebrated in Mississippi today through next Saturday.

Hancock County's Welcome Center on I-10 will have many special events to give a special welcome to visitors to our area.

Sue VanZandt, center director and her staff always do a very good job in welcoming visitors to our county and state.

Among the extras scheduled will be a visit by Miss Connally Compretta, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce this afternoon. Refreshments will be served.

Some of the specials for the week will include demonstrations on quilt making, pine needle weaving, stained glass, wood carving, basket weaving, cotton spinning and other crafts.

This sounds like an exciting week for the Welcome Center, and many of our local residents will be giving that 'extra welcome' to visitors.

I know some of you think I forgot about the part planned by the National Space Technology Labatories, well I haven't.

Monday through Friday, for one hour in the morning and afternoon, there will be a demonstration of a Space Suit.

Tiles used on the outside of space crafts will be also featured in a demonstration by the NSTL Visitors Center's staff.

Visitors will also at certain times this week receive such extras as cookies, pralines, fried chicken and biscuits.

We realize Hancock County does not receive as much from tourism as other areas, yet it does play a role in our economy.

There are many small businesses who would not be in business without tourists.

We wish all citizens of Hancock County would drop by Our Welcome Center and see for themselves the fine welcome a tourist receives when they first arrive in Mississippi.

There are many organizations in our community doing a very good job in helping those in need.

One of the organizations which has really been busy lately is the St. Vincent de Paul Society. There is a chapter in Waveland at St. Clare, Bay

St. Louis at Our Lady of the Gulf, and Kiln at Annunciation Catholic Churches. To help raise funds, Waveland St. Vincent de

Paul Society has a thrift store at the Waveland

The store operates Tuesday, Thursday, Friday 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Saturdays 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. It sells items donated to the store at reasonable prices.

Items are also given to the needy.

We have noted over the years that residents have placed useable furniture at clothing collection boxes used by The Salvation Army and Goodwill

The rains come along and the useable furniture becomes unuseable and creates a serious debris

We are sure the St. Vincent de Paul Society could find good use for useable furniture, and would appreciate any donations.

We have been contacted by both The Salvation Army and Goodwill Industries about the problems they face because of persons dumping furniture which becomes trash around their boxes, as it causes them to ultimately lose box sites. A suggestion would be, if you have useable furniture, why not take it to the Waveland Civic Center during the open hours of the St. Vincent de Paul Society's thrift store.

If you want further information about the St. Vincent de Paul Society, give them a call at 467-0703, if no one is there, just leave a message.

NEW COUNTY BOAT-The Hancock County Sheriff's Office received the gift of a 28-foot 1975 Chalet Vee boat manufactured by Cruisers to be used in search and rescue from Jacques A. Bagur of Pearlington and Slidell, La. Checking the boat out are, from right, Hancock County Supervisor Sam Perniciaro, and Criminal Investigators Alvin Ladner and Delbert Seay on Thursday. Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson received a telephone call from Bagur about three weeks ago who said he wanted to donate the boat to Hancock County after having it serviced and put in top shape. Perniciaro and Seay traveled to Madisonville on Thursday to pick up the craft. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Mississippi celebrating National Tourism Week

Mississippi joins the rest of the nation in celebrating National Tourism Week, May 18-24.

"Tourism Work$ for America," National Tourism Week 1986 will emphasize the importance of travel and tourism to the nation's Donna Tuttle, Under Secretary of Commerce for Travel and Tourism, notes that "National Tourism Week is especially important to the U.S. Travel and Tourism Administration this year because it coincides with the observance of our agency's silver anniversary. I hope people will use both occasions to remember the impact travel and tourism has on our economy."

According to William Edwards, president of the Hilton Hotels Division and co-chair with Tuttle on the National Tourism Week Council, "This special week has already proven to be a highly successful vehicle for increasing public awareness of the contributions of the nation's third largest retail industry. We will again be using the theme, "Tourism Works for America." because we believe it conveys an important ssage to the media, Capitol Hill and the consumer."

Figures from the Travel Industry Association of America show that travelers spent $224 billion in the United States in 1984, a ten percent increase over 1983. One of every 15 working Americans is supported directly or indirectly by the travel industry, a total of 6.9 million jobs.

The U. S. Travel Data Center estimates that in Mississippi, domestic travel expenditures totaled almost $1 billion in 1985, meaning approximately $62 million in tax also said that travel-generated employment accounted for about 25,000 jobs and $194 million in payroll.

Group travel accounted for over $33 million in direct economic impact for Mississippi in 1985, according to a National Tour Association report. A local economy gains over $3,000 for each full day and overnight stay of an average group tour.

Citing the importance of the tourism industry to the state, Governor Bill Allain proclaimed May 18-24, 1986 as "National Tourism Week in Mississippi."

Barbara Barrett, Tourism Division director for the Mississippi Department of Economic Development, said the state agency and several communities around of the state are planning special events during the week.

A statewide Unity Luncheon will kick off National Tourism Week celebrations on May 19 in Jackson. In addition to a report on the present and future status of Mississippi's tourism industry, the luncheon program will feature Weeta Colebank of Natchez speaking on "The Team Effort, The Only Way to Win."

In Mississippi's nine Welcome Centers, local Miss Hospitalities and community volunteers will extend special greetings to visitors throughout the week. Crafts demonstrations, free refreshments, surprise gifts, music and exhibits are also scheduled.

Community activities range from 'arresting" out-of-state tourists and treating them to free accommodations and meals to tours of local attractions for tourism industry personnel. Additionally, ten radio stations in nine Mississippi communities are participating in the Tourism Division's "Hello

Tourism is nation's third largest retail industry

May 16, 1986 The Sea Coast Echo Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

As a member of the travel industry, the nation's third largest retail industry and one which provides enjoyment for millions of Americans each year, I am proud that the week of May 18-24, 1986 has been named National Tourism

Two years ago, President Reagan established National Tourism Week to celebrate one of America's fastest growing industries. Because of the economic impact of this industry, I can't think of anything more fitting then National Tourism Week's slogan, 'Tourism Work$ for America.'

Not many people realize that travel supports 6.8 million jobs directly and indirectly. In 1985, travel and tourism generated nearly $50 billion in wages and salaries. In Mississippi, tourism supports about 25,000 jobs for an annual payroll of $194 million. I hope that everyone will take the time to appreciate travel as an important part of what makes America great

May 18-24, 1986 has been designated National Tourism Week to help Americans realize that tourism does work for America.

No, Virginia, there is no energy erisis

By Michael M. Kurth

(Michael M. Kurth is an associate professor of economics at McNeese State University in Louisiana.)

Last week unleaded gas was selling for 75 cents a gallon in Texas. That's cheap. Not only is it less than last year's price; after adjusting for inflation, it is cheaper than in the nineteen-sixties, the heyday of the gas-guzzling, chrome plated, full-sized automobile.

Just a few years ago the government was predicting five-dollars-a-gallon gas by the end of the decade. Some may find this disconcerting. I do not. I never believed those public service announcements on late night TV that warned of impending doomsday. Having come of age during Viet Nam and Watergate, I am cynical about government causes But for those who reached political puberty in the seventie, when peddling was patriotic and sweaters were akin to recognizing Daddy's face behind Santa's beard. No, Virginis, there is no energy crisis.

To understand oil prices, one must realize that OPEC is a producer's union. It is made up of thirteen oil exporting countries which, together, control about 40 percent of the world's oil. In 1973 they met and agreed not to sell oil for less than the union rate. Oil was selling for $3 a barrel; they set the union rate at $14

People searched for non-OPEC producers -"oil scabs"-to buy from. At first the oil scabs were few. In part, this was due to U. S. policy: our government forbade U. S. pro-ducers from raising the price of their domestic oil, so they had no incentive to scab, and companies that paid OPEC's rate were given a subsidy to offset their higher costs, so they had no incentive to look for

When Reagan took office in 1981. he eliminated all price controls on crude oil and gasoline. Critics such as Teddy Kennedy charged he was unleasing the big oil companies to rip off consumers and predicted a rise in gas prices; in reality, Reagan unleased U.S. oil producers against

The "Energy Crisis" was OPEC's attempt to justify its price hikes. When people accused OPEC of price when people accused orac to price gouging, they replied that they were doing the world a favor by "rationalizing" oil prices; at lower prices, the greedy capitalist nations would consume so much oil that it would soon be all gone.

In fact, OPEC declared, the price of oil would rise even higher, to $30 a barrel by 1990. Those in the U.S. who benefited from OPEC'c action echoed this view, as did politicians and special interest groups who saw a chance to profit from the public's fear and confusion.

Congress proposed a $200 billion pork barrel filled with "synfuels." Each congressman had his own pet fuel: gasohol in the grain regions; shale oil in the coal regions; solar energy in the Southwest. The list seemed endless

Even Barry Commoner, the Citizen's Party presidential candidate, had a project: methane gas made from duck droppings (fortunately, the duck vote is not very large).

None of the projects could promise oil for less than $60 a barrel, so their justification teetered on OPEC's prediction of $80-a-barrel oil.

It was clear that OPEC men did not believe their own story. Oil in the ground is like money in the bank. When the price of oil was $30, anyone who believed the price would reach $80 in ten years would have expected a ten percent return, compounded annually, from simply leaving oil in the ground. OPEC members were pumping oil out of the ground, converting it to cash at considerably less than ten percent.

When Reagan deregulated U. S. oil, panic set in among OPEC members. Convinced that the price of oil would soon fall, they began to sell as much oil as they could while the price was high. They flooded the market with oil, and prices plunged.

So now all the fuss about an energy doornsday is forgotten. Reagan, the ex-union president, busted another union-OPEC-and, barring war in the Middle East, oil prices may stay

Three arrested in Bar burglary

By ELLIS CUEVAS
One adult and two juveniles were arrested Thursday morning in connection with the burglary of Our Place Bar on US-90.

Glenn Strong, Hancock County sheriff's criminal investigator, said, Sammy Wayne Tyler, 19, Rt. 2, L 🗷 895, Bay St. Louis and two 17-yearolds were apprehended at a car wash at approximately 4:30 a.m."

"Waveland Patrolman Danny Carter spotted a suspicious looking vehicle at the car wash and received back-up from Hancock County sheriff and Bay St. Louis units," Strong added.

An investigation of the trio led to the arrest of Tyler with the two juveniles being taken into custody and turned over to the Youth Court authorities. Strong stated, in connection with the burglary of the bar.

The burglary of Our Place Bar included 4 cases of beer, 85 packages of cigarettes, $94 of quarters vandalized from coin machines, and vandalism to the bar.

Tyler was released on bond with both juveniles being turned over to their parents by the Youth Court.

The pilot of a single engine plane which crashed in a north Hancock County pasture Friday was reported as being in a stable condition, by a spokesman at Picayune Memorial Hospital.

The pilot, James Calvin Mac donald Jr., 22, of Picayune, told authorities the engine of the craft stalled at 2.500 feet and he started looking for a pasture to land.

The craft crash-landed in a cow pesture at E. M. Brignac's Farm about one-third-mile off Highway 603 at Necaise Crossing.

The plane was seen going down by the grandson of Charlie Mays, caretaker at the farm. Mays said, "Macdonald appeared to have been dazed from the crash and was walking towards a branch when we reached him, Mays said." "We took Macdonald to the farm house and notified authorities," Mays added.

The wheels of the plane were strewn about the field, as it appeared the craft came to a sudden stop. Blood could be seen on the canopy and in the cockpit.

According to the young pilot he rented the Varga Kochina plane from Picayune Airport to get in a few hours of flying time when the in-

Canine atopy: itchy skin disease

Atopy is a common, genetically history, clinical signs and rogammed, itchy skin disease of laboratory rule outs. A definite dogs in which the patient becomes sensitive to inhaled environmental substances. Flea allergy dermatitis is the most common cause of scratching in dogs. Atopy is the second most common hypersensitivity skin disorder in dogs and is found in up to 15 percent of the canine population.

Although this skin disease can occur in any breed, certain breeds are known to have it more often. These breeds include Cairn terriers. West Highland White terriers, Lhasa Apsos, wire-haired fox terriers, Dalmations, pugs, Irish setters, Boston ter-riers and miniature schnauzers.

The age of onset of clinical signs in atopic dogs varies from six months to seven years, with about 70 percent of the dogs first showing clinical signs between one and three years of age. Clinical signs may be seasonal or nonseasonal, depending on the allergens involved.

Scratching is the outstanding clinical sign in canine atopy. The skin lesions seen tin atopic dogs are usually associated with self-trauma, secondary skin infection and secon dary seborrhes. These dogs traditionally are face rubbers, foot chewers and scratchers.

Generalized scratching and skin involvement may eventually be present in about 40 percent of dogs. In the Southeast, fice allergy signs are often also present. A bestative diagnosis of canine tatopy can be made on the basis of laboratory rule outs. A definite diagnosis of canine atopy and the allergens involved can only be made with a test done between the lavers of skin.

Therapy for canine atopy includes various combinations of avoidance, hyposensitization and corticosteroids. Avoidance of allergens is ideal, but is not always possible or Corticosteroids is the treatment of choice for animals whose seasonal involvement is fairly short or for older dogs that may not live through the hyposensitization period. Long term, high-dose corticosteroid therapy is not advised due to the potential harmful side effects.

Hyposensitization using the in-volved allergens as a vaccine is used in dogs in which avoidance is impossible, and in which corticosteroids are unsatisfactory. For more information concerning canine contact your local veterinarian.

HOLY SPIRIT BAPTISM AND GIFT

This lesson seeks to answer questions concerning the work of the Holy Spirit as a divine person. The Holy Spirit knows things, was a comforter to the apostles and was the guiding and directing influence in the revelation of the word.

What about the baptism of the Holy Spirit? John the Baptist con-trasted the baptism with the baptism Jesus would produce. "I indeed baptize you with water unto repentance; but He that cometh after me is mightier than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to bear; He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire." (Matthew 3:11)

Baptism of the spirit was a promise and not a command. Some would be baptized with the Holy Spirit and the disobe dient would be baptized with eternal fire.

The gospel of Christ did not make the baptism of the spirit a command to be obeyed. The promise by John of Holy Spirit baptism was fulfilled at the time of our Lord's choosing.

The baptism of the Holy Spirit occurred twice. After his resurrection Jesus appeared to His apostles for 40 "And being assembled together with them, commanded them that they should not depart from Jerusalem, but wait for the promise of the Father which saith He, "Ye have heard of me. For John truly baptized with water; but ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost not many days hence." (Acts 1:1-5)

The twelve apostles were baptized in the Holy Spirit on the first Pentecost after the resurrection of Jesus. It was the apostles and not the twelve who were baptized in the Holy Spirit. The pronouns of Acts 2:1-4 refer to the antecedent found in Acts 1:26. The antecedent is the apostles.

There is no doubt this event was the baptism of the spirit. Peter remembers the Lord's promise at the house of Cornelius. He said. "And as I began to speak, The Holy Ghost fell on them, as on us at the beginning."

Then remembers I the word of the Lord, how that he said. John indeed baptized with water; but Ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost. For as much then as God gave them the like gift as He did unto us who believed on the Lord Jesus; what was I, that I would withstand God?" (Acts 11:15-17)

The second occasion of the Holy Spirit is the one which we have already mentioned, the House of Cornelius. While Peter was speaking to the gentiles, "The Holy Ghost fell on them, which heard the word."

As at the beginning refers to Pentecost, "like gift" refers to these two occasions. These two events was the fulfilling of Joel's prophecy. His prophecy was, ..."I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh.."(Joel 2:28)

In Peter's sermon on Pentecost he said concerning the baptism of the Holy Spirit upon the apostles, "But this is that which was spoken by the prophet Joel." (Acts 2:16-17)

The apostles were Jews. The house of Cornelius was Gentiles. If one is not a Jew, he is a Gentile. Therefore, the baptism of the Holy Spirit prophecy was fulfilled on these two occasions. It had come upon all flesh

Holy Spirit baptism was never a command. Baptism of the Holy Spirit was never a condition of salva

The baptism of the gospel of Christ is water baptism. After the house of Cornelius received the Holy Spirit baptism and at the conclusion of Peter's speech, Peter asked, "Can any man forbid water that these hould not be baptized.."(Acts 10:47)

At the baptism of the Ethopian nobleman we read concerning his baptism, "And when they were come up out of the water." (Acts

The Lord's great commission was, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved.."(Mark 16:16, Matthew 28:19, Roman 6:5)

In the same way we obey the Lord's command today we are the sons of God. Through faith, baptized into Christ; and put on Christ (Galatians 3:26-27) In Christ, we are new creatures (II Corinthians 5:17)

The Lord adds the saved to the church. (Acts 2:47)

We are not commanded to receive Holy Spirit baptism for salvation. -W. Edwin Kearley

Handel and Mozart works

performed for PRM

Tupelo, Jackson and Meridian musicians perform selections by Handel and Mozart when "Mississippi Concert Hall" is broadcast on Public Radio in Mississippi to 1 p.m., Sunday, May 18. The program is hosted and produced by William Fulton.

—First, the Tupelo Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Eric Knight, plays excerpts from Handel's Oratorio, the 'Messiah.' The performance was recorded at the Tupelo Civic Auditorium on March 1.

-Next, the Metropolitan Chamber Orchestra, conducted by Brian Gum of Jackson, performs Mozart's 'Overture to Idomeneo.' The performance was recorded at the Old Capitol Museum in Jackson on April 6

-Then it's back to Handel when the Meridian Symphony Chamber Singers, directed by Dick Brown and featuring soprano Diane Benton, perform the Setting of Psalm 112, 'Laudate pueri Dominum' (boys praise the Lord).

Public Radio in Mississippi, a division of Mississippi ETV, is broadcast in Biloxi on 90.3 FM.

Farm profits decline as food prices rise in '85

A study of where American food dollars went in 1965 shows that farmers received 8.8 percent less for their products while grocery stores were charging consumers 1.2 percent more, dropping the farmers' share of the food dollar to its lowest level since the Depression.

In a U.S. Department of Agriculture report released through the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, USDA economis s said the farmers' share of the grocery dollar dwindled to 31 cents, down 8.8 percent from the 1984 share of 34 cents.

Abundant food supplies and rising food processing and distribution costs combined to drive farm prices down and procery store prices up.

The share farmers get from each food dollar varies from product to product. The farm share of the beef dollar, for example, is usually about 55 cents. Every dollar spent on poultry in the grocery store returns about 53 cents to the farmer, and 65 cents of every dollar spent on eggs goes back to the farm. Consequently, declines in the prices of these products hit farmers hardest, and

But Ralph Parlett, a USDA economist, said comparisons of today's farm share of the food dollar with that of the 1920s and '30s do not provide an accurate picture of the situation, however.

Although the 31 cents of the American food dollar that today's farmer is getting is the lowest share since the Depression, what is significant is that it is the lowest share since the early 1960s.

"Since the late 1950s the amount of processing that takes place off the farm has steadily increased," Parlett said. "We are buying more convenience food items these days, and these items are the result of fu ther processing which legitimately adds cost to the food product after it has left the farm."

To compare today's farmer who is getting 31 cents of every food ollar to a 1929 or '30 farmer who was getting 31 cents of every food dollar-for food that was very little changed from the time it left the farm until it reached the grocery shelf-would be misleading, Parlett said.

However, the fact remains that the farm share of the American food dollar is, in comparable terms, the lowest it has been for more than 30

Large production held down meat prices in 1985. The prices retailers paid farmers fell from an average $1.40 a pound for Choice beef in 1984 to $1.27 a pound in 1985, a drop of more than 9 percent. The price consumers paid, however, declined by only 2.1 percent, from $2.40 a pound to $2.33. Pork prices to the farmer eclined by almost 8 percent, and held steady at the grocery counter.

David Trammell Jr., a marketing specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said it is not unusual for retail prices to lag behind shifts in prices paid to farmers.

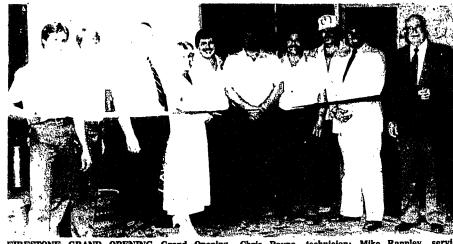

"This will work on the upside, too. Consumer prices will take a downswing eventually, and prices paid to farmers will move back up. There have been times when consumer prices were going down while prices paid to farmers were going up," said Trammell.

"There is no evidence that anybody is trying to gouge anybody. This is just the system working,' Parlett said.

So, what's going to happen this

'As we see things now, I don't see a whole lot of change. Food supplies are large. Red meats may recover, but not enough to compensate for 20 percent decreases in the price paid to farmers for grains," Parlett said.

Prices paid to farmers are expected to hold nearly steady through 1986, while prices at the procery store continue to climb. But increases in total consumer income are expected to outpace retail food price increases, leaving Americans spending a smaller and smaller portion of their paycheck on groceries.

Better than USDA Choice! Better than Black Angus! More highly selected than USDA Prime!

Experts agree: Certified Angus Beef is the tenderest, best tasting beef in "America. And now, by special arrangement with the American Angus Association this top quality beef is available to you exclusively at National Super Markets.

ONLY ONE IN FOUR IS GOOD ENOUGH

The Certified Angus Beef stamp of approval carries such high quality standards that only one in four, just 25% of all the Angus cattle tested, are accepted. By contrast, the USDA Choice rating is given to 90% of all beef graded. Even beef advertised as "Black Angus" offers no assurance that it could pass Certified Angus Beef inspections.

THE DIFFERENCE IS IN THE MARBLING

EVEN OUR TRIMMING IS SPECIAL To make sure you get the very best value our meat department trims each cut of Certified Angus Beet to a maximum of a inch of fat. This not only saves you money but helps make Certified Angus Beet lower in cholesterol than skinless chicken.

So, if you're looking for the best tasting beet in America, just look for the special Certified Angus Beef section in our fresh meat case. The Certified Angus Beef shield guarantees that you'll be serving beef that's better than USDA Choice, better than "Black and even more highly selected than USDA Prime

BLOODS OF 'NAM'

The stories of black soldiers in Vietnam are told in a "Frontline" documentary with Judy Woodruff, "The Bloods of 'Nam," at 9 p.m. Tuesday, May 20, on Mississippi

Black soldiers called each other "bloods" for solidarity. In the heat of the civil rights and black power movements, they accounted for up to 23 percent of American combat fatalities.

"So many black soldiers were being killed that the battlefield was called 'soulville,'" says "Frontline" correspondent Wallace Terry, author of "Bloods," the national best-seller on which the film is bas-

Biloxi slates annual Shrimp Festival and Blessing of the Fleet

Biloxi's most colorful and unique event takes place the first weekend

The Biloxi Shrimp Festival and Blessing of the Fleet is a continuation of a religious ceremony which dates back more than 300 years to countries bordering the Adriatic

The custom was first introduced in Biloxi in 1924 when the fishing fleet consisted mainly of sailing craft.

The purpose of the Blessing is to ask God's favor for the safety of the fishermen and their families and for a bountiful catch.

This ceremony is now the highlight of the Biloxi Shrimp Festival which originated in 1945.

On Friday evening, May 30, the private opening ceremonies get underway at the City's Tullis Manor. The Queen contestants and King are introduced. All contributors of the Festival are recognized at these eremonies. On Saturday, May 31, the new King and Queen of the Shrimp Festival are honored at the coronation ceremony to be held at the Slavonian

Only daughters or granddaughters of fishermen are eligible to be the "Biloxi Shrimp Queen". Immediately after the coronation, the Fais Do Do, or street dance, gets underway. This gala event, held at Point

Cadet, is complete with music, danc ing, free boiled shrimp and a guaranteed good time for all!

The actual Blessing of the Fleet takes place on Sunday afternoon, June 1. Hundreds of boats form a parade line and pass one by one in front of the Blessing boat.

The Blessing is given by the Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Biloxi. The Blessing can be viewed from the Biloxi Small Craft Harbor and the beach area adjacent to the

The boats are painted and gaily decorated for this event. The religious ceremony is followed by awarding trophies and prizes to the heat decorated hosts

Many of the fishermen then take their boats over to Deer Island for family picnics and friendly activity. Indeed, the Biloxi Shrimp Festival and Blessing of the Fleet is truly an event to be enjoyed and nembered by all.
